Throne is 'Forced' on Him by Japs, Says Pu-Yi

TOKYO.—Henry Pu-Yi, the 45-year-old boy emperor of Manchuria, asserted that the Japanese threatened to kill him if he refused to become nominal head of the vast empire they had seized in northern China.

He pointed directly to Seishiro Itagaki, former chief of staff of the Japanese army in Manchuria and one of 27 major Japanese war leaders on trial before the Far East international war crimes tribunal, as the man who threatened his life if he refused the colonial throne.

PORTALES, N. M. — A British war bride looked on in district court here as her husband, George Barrett, a 22-year-old former soldier, who saw service in France and Germany, was sentenced to 18 months in prison for contributing to juvenile delinquency.

The parents of a 15-year-old girl testified that Barrett had represented to them that he and their daughter were married and had lived together as man and wife. They also said he denied having left a bride in England.

The former Velma Waddington, who married Barrett at Blackpool, Lancastershire, January 1, 1946, arrived at Elida, N. M., to join her husband August 13, only a few days after the complaint was filed.

Uncle Sam Says

"Where on earth did my money go?" How often have you voiced this question, half in wonder, half in dismay! It's so easy to fritter away ready cash. A dollar here—and a dollar there—and in the end nothing to show for it. And yet saving for the things you want—a new home, travel or future security—is easy and effective simply by allotting a portion of your income either through the payroll savings or by arrangement with your bank for the systematic purchase of United States Savings Bonds. Dollars go, your bonds grow. When you buy Savings Bonds regularly, you are building the nest-egg for whatever you've set your heart on.

Reports Boy, 13, Admits Killing Alaska Girl, 11

SITKA, ALASKA — FBI agent Lee O. Teague reported recently a 13-year-old boy had confessed the knife slaying of 11-year-old Anna Marie Ward.

Teague, agent in charge of the Alaska headquarters at Anchorage, identified the boy as Chris Dirkle son. He disclosed no motive. An autopsy showed 30 knife wounds in the body of the pretty young daughter of City Supervisor William Ward.

The boy is being bound over for federal grand jury action under the juvenile code. Teague said a space under the ...

scene of the slaying. The girl's body was dragged later 100 yards to Dog creek, where it lay until her brother discovered it during a concerted search the following day.

Phone on Infra-Red Rays Built by Navy

Reveal War Secret for Voice Over Short Range.

WASHINGTON. — A secret voice-ray telephone that works on invisible light was developed by the navy during the war, it was revealed.

Details are still shrouded in security restrictions, but an official explained that its source is infra-red rays. It has a "line-of-sight" range the same as television.

It eliminates freak interception or interference by an enemy miles away, as was possible with other high radio frequencies.

Conversations can be held between nearby ships or from ship to shore. But the official explained that the invisible rays will not penetrate fog, water or anything that stops visible light ray.

The navy disclosed in June that it had an infra-red searchlight for blinker messages between ships, but this was the first acknowledgment that an ordinary conversation by infra-red rays was possible.

Both the Germans and the Japanese had infra-red equipment, the navy expert said, but our version of this equipment in 1944 and 1945 did not particularly aid United States research. The line of our infra-red work was pretty well shut down by that time, he said, and our engineers went ahead with new ideas.

The range of the infra-red phone is limited to the horizon, about eight miles from the top of a destroyer. But in a battle campaign, messages could be passed from point to point over space under the ...

...passable for wire-tapping and where radio call ... intercepted.

The navy let production ... for the equipment following successful tests in 1943 and 1944 but is still reluctant to discuss how far it has progressed in development or the scope of its program.

Girl Is Burned to Death Playing in Children's Game

LOS ANGELES.—Sally Guillen, 22 months old, was burned to death "in a cruel game" played by older children to test the child's bravery, her mother said.

Sally's dress caught fire as she tried to duplicate the feats of older children by allowing lighted matches to be held against her.

She ran screaming home ... relatives beat out the flames ... their hands and took her ... hospital, where she died.

Sheriff's officers began an investigation after the mother, Mrs Catalina Guillen, said she believed her child was killed by playmates' pranks.

She said several neighborhood children between the ages of four and five had been holding lighted matches against other children to make them prove how much they could endure.

Two of her other children had shown her burn scars on their arms, she said.

Officers said they had not yet learned the names of the leaders of the game.

Complete Studies That Give New Data on Sun's Rotation

MOUNT HAMILTON, CALIF.—University of California astronomers at Lick observatory here have completed studies giving them new insight on the rotation of the sun in its orbit in the Milky Way.

Dr. Nichols U. Mayall, associate astronomer, said studies of 50 globular star clusters showed that the whole system rotates slightly. The finding takes on importance when it is realized that the rotation of the sun was calculated from observations on the belief that they did not rotate.

However, the astronomer said the discovery does not change the estimate of speed of the sun's circular motion. Earlier calculations proved lucky, he said, and gave the correct circular velocity for the sun.

Old Cathedral Is Falling Apart; Need Repair Funds

CHICHESTER, ENGLAND. — the lead and silver roof of old Chichester cathedral is "creeping like a caterpillar," while the death watch beetle ticks away undermining it.

Lord Leconfield of Sussex has appealed for $120,000 for urgent repairs to the 850-year-old edifice.

The whole of the 200-year-old lead roof, containing much medieval silver, must be stripped off and recast. Its sloughing off has left great holes at the top. Essential repairs also will have to be made to stonework. Better ventilation will have to be provided to retard the undermining of the beetles.

The cathedral was begun in 1088. It was ravaged by fire in 1114. In 1861 the central tower and spire collapsed, but they rose again from the ruins. Further damage came in violent gales of 1929-30.

Spinster Waits 24 Years For Love, Kills Herself

SAN MARINO, CALIF. — Florence Farrington, 51, a spinster, ended her loneliness with death, leaving a note declaring that she had waited 24 years for love, Police Chief Glenn F McClung reports.

Chief McClung said he discovered the body of Miss Farrington, a writer, in her home. He said she had shot herself with a 32 caliber revolver. Keeping watch beside the body was her dog Sandy, a Sealyham.

McClung said Miss Farrington left a note addressed to an undisclosed friend, with excerpts which read: "Twenty-four years of fruitless waiting and at the last you are still my best beau. . . . There is only just Sandy and my preference to go alone rather than endure the silence which meets me here. I hope your wedding tomorrow will bring you what you hope for."

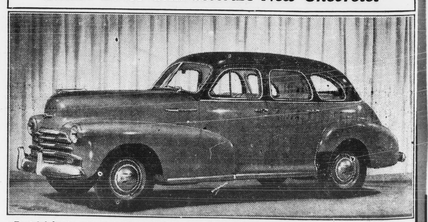
Modern-Mode Styling for Chevrolet

The auto industry's stylists and designers have played the major role in the presentation of new models, since change-over this year has been generally confined to restyling in the modern mode. Here is the new Chevrolet, now in production, distinguished by advanced front-end treatment that incorporates a new and more massive radiator grille, larger parking lamps, and smartly redesigned decorative features.

Smart Lines Characterize New Chevrolet



Re-styled for the new year, with emphasis on a more massive front end and a smoother sweep to body contours, the new Chevrolet will soon make its debut. New front-end grille and complementing bright work, as well as elimination of the body belt molding, have done much to give the new model an air of greater luxuriousness.

METZ, FRANCE. — Pierre Studzmann, 55, an Alsatian, was conscripted in the German army in 1915, married a German woman and lived with her until 1936. Then he left Germany.

After World War II he married a French woman and apparently was happy until wife No. 1 lodged a complaint from Germany.

"Between you and me," Studzmann told the judge, "my first wife was never very attentive." "Between you and me," the judge told Studzmann, "you should have thought of that before giving her 10 children." Disposition of the case was postponed.

Violet Ray Traps Man Who Turned in False Fire Alarms

CLEVELAND. — The Cleveland fire department, keeping abreast of the times, had little trouble catching up with the latest person to turn in a false alarm from a fire box.

John Marks turned in an alarm at a corner box. A passer-by detained him until the firemen arrived. Marks protested his innocence.

An ultra-violet ray settled the matter. The fire department had doped all alarm boxes with a substance which glows under such a ray. Marks hand glowed plenty. He got 30 days and costs.

Mongrel Dog Gives His Life to Save His Master

KALISPELL, MONT. — A small mongrel trotted gaily along behind his master, Donald Baertsch, as he did trail maintenance work in the Spotted Bear country.

Suddenly a grizzly bear reared out of a patch of huckleberries. Baertsch tripped. The bear attacked. The dog harried the bear until it turned, giving Baertsch time to climb a tree.

Then, with one sweep of a paw, the bear snapped the mongrel's back.

Driver Risks Life to Save 4½ Minutes, Race Discloses

PHILADELPHIA. — Would you risk your life to save four and one-half minutes?

Lots of motorists do, says Philadelphia Safety council. To prove it, the council conducted a novel race over a 10-mile course of city driving.

Two 1939 sedans of the same make were started off together.

One driver was under orders to show no courtesy to anyone—just drive as fast as the law would allow and keep within traffic regulations. He could take all the chances he wanted. Driver No. 2 was instructed to travel at a safe, normal speed, showing the prescribed courtesies of the road to pedestrians and other motorists.

The driver who took the chances crossed the finish line in 28 minutes—just four and one-half minutes ahead of the safe and sane driver.

Car No. 1, in addition, bumped fenders and had several close calls in traffic.

To drive home the point of the race, Herbert T. Hecht, safety council field service engineer, said:

"We figure that a man of 35 has about 17 million minutes of life left to him. The fast driver saved only four and a half minutes. Just figure the odds he's getting."
